

Dr. Dannellia (Danni) Green is the Director of Supplier Diversity for Owens & Minor, a global healthcare services, products and supply chain solutions company. Prior to joining Owens & Minor, Green was responsible for global commodities strategy and management of Dell's wireless tablet business. In addition to procurement and supply chain management, she was responsible for customer relationship management of 3rd party system-integrators. Diversity within the supply chain and the workforce have been a long standing impact area for Green as has a focus on quality, total cost of ownership and operational efficiencies. She earned her bachelor's degree in physics from North Carolina A & T State University, master's degree in materials engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and engineering doctorate from North Carolina State University. An alumni of the University of Texas at Austin's McCombs School of Business, Green is married to Minister Kelvin Green and they have four children.